

THE NEW LIBRARY was a cool place to be for Summer School students from New Haven Elementary School last week with temperatures soaring outdoors. In these photos, students learn about pet rocks from Jenny Potter, children's programmer, and work on making their own pet rocks afterward. The field trip to the library was also intended to encourage students to use it more. The theme of "Libraries Rock" for the summer is similar to the Summer School theme.

SUMMER SCHOOL students visited the new library last week and worked on creating their own pet rocks after hearing a presentation on them in keeping with the week's theme. Children's programmer Jenny Potter also showed them how to take care of their rocks. Students were also encouraged to get library cards and use the new facility.

SUMMER Schoolers work on crafts at the library.
