Lonedell School Class Project

Lonedell R-XIV middle school students recently explained what family and consumer science class is all about to the board of education at a recent meeting.

These students had to volunteer for this undertaking. The presentation began with Richard Aleshire describing what he learned about hand stitching. He wore a sweater he had repaired himself. Carter Short shared what was covered during the cooking portion of the family and consumer science class.

"Most of us didn't know anything about cooking. Mrs. (Sharon) Knickmeyer let us choose recipes we liked, so we'd be more apt to try them," Short said. "The
