Summer Reading Program Not Just for Kids Adult Summer Reading Program Begins June 1

Beginning on June 1, all branches will be offering the Adult Summer Reading Program. To participate, simply stop by the branch of choice to pick-up a reading challenge form. The form lists multiple challenges to complete and track progress all summer long.

There are many reading challenges, such as reading a book with a rocket or spacecraft on the cover, a biography/memoir of a scientist, or an e-book. Back again this year, are outside-of-the-box challenges, including bringing a friend to the library, participating in the Rock-A-Thon, or checking out a cake pan, fishing pole, or telescope.

After completing three challenges, return to the library to receive a completion tote bag and entry into the end-of-summer prize drawing. Throughout the summer, complete additional challenges and earn more entries into the drawing.

Drawing prizes include a Bento-style lunch box, $25 Amazon gift card, USB car charger, book light, and moon lamp.

More information, including upcoming adult programs can be found here at <https://scenicregional.org/asrc/>.

A moon lamp is one of this year's drawing prizes for the adult summer reading program.

Discover a Universe of Stories at the Library This Summer

A UNIVERSE OF STORIES

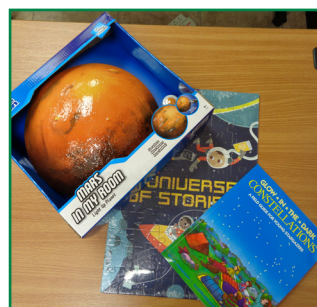

Sign-ups starts June 1. Kids who sign up by June 15 will be entered into the drawing for St. Louis Cardinals baseball tickets. If they complete the program by July 31, they will get a Grizzlies baseball ticket, Magic House pass and free book and be entered into the drawing for a rocketship tent, star night light, Moonlite book projector, games, puzzles, and more!

Reading over summer vacation may not be a priority for children, but parents should make it one. Why? Summer reading is critical to a child's ability to not only retain information learned the previous year, but also to grow in knowledge and critical thinking skills for the coming year. It is necessary for children to read on a daily basis in order to maintain literacy skills learned in the previous school year.

A University of Tennessee, Knoxville, research study shows that children who don't read over the summer lose at least two months of reading development. This is often referred to as 'the summer slide'. On the other hand, students who do read over the summer may gain a month of proficiency in reading. Reading over the summer is not a suggestion to keep kids busy; it's a critical requirement to help students stay on track for their entire educational career and beyond.

Reading over the summer is a necessity, but it should also be fun! So come to your local branch of Scenic Regional Library to sign up for summer reading program and explore a Universe of Stories.

"May the Fourth Be With You" was celebrated in Sullivan with Star Wars-themed activities and guests.

"Mommy & Me Manicures" was a hit in Wright City. Several families were able to come enjoy time together.

Library to Name Union Branch Meeting Room after First Director

The Scenic Regional Library Board of Trustees approved a proposal by Library Director Steve Campbell at their April meeting to name one of the three meeting rooms at the new Union branch after the system's first director, Lucy Lomax. The formal dedication will occur at the branch's grand opening event on September 14.

Miss Lomax was born in Texas in 1907. She earned a bachelor's degree in music from Baylor University at only eighteen years old. After teaching piano at Baylor University and elementary school in Texas public schools, she studied piano in France at the University of Toulouse.

Miss Lomax earned a graduate degree in library science from Louisiana State University. She began her library career as branch supervisor and assistant bookmobile librarian from 1941 to 1945 at the Harris County Library in Houston, Texas, and director of publicity and extension at Lincoln Library in Springfield, Illinois, from 1945 to 1952.

Miss Lomax joined the Missouri State Library staff as consultant and state director of the American Heritage discussion program in 1952.

Miss Lomax first came to this area as a member of the Missouri State Library staff. She worked with citizen groups in Franklin, Gasconade and Warren counties in establishing a demonstration of county-wide library service in 1957 and 1958. After the Franklin County Library was created by the voters in 1958, she resigned from the State Library staff to become director of the new county library in January 1959. When Gasconade and Warren Counties joined Franklin County to form Scenic Regional Library in May 1959, she became the regional library director. At that time, the library only had branches in New Haven, Pacific, St. Clair, Union, Owensville, and Warrenton. In 1972, the city of Hermann became part of the regional system.

Miss Lomax, with other librarians around the state, formed the Missouri Libraries Film Cooperative in 1961. The cooperative allowed member libraries to provide 16mm films to their patrons, a service most libraries could not afford on their own. The Film Cooperative became one of the largest in the United States and many other cooperatives were patterned after it.

Miss Lomax retired on January 1, 1975. During the 16 years that she directed the regional library, the library's book collection increased from 15,000 to 120,292 books. Circulation rose from 142,566 to 355,257.

Miss Lomax wrote a history of Union for the city's bicentennial. The booklet, History of Union 1827-1976, was completed in 1976. She received the Distinguished Service Award from the Union Chamber of Commerce in 1977 for her service to the community. She was the first woman to receive this award. Miss Lomax was also a member of the Missouri Library Association and had served the organization in many capacities including president of the Public Library Division. She was also a member of League of Women Voters of the Four Rivers Area and the Franklin County Chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Miss Lomax passed away in 1977.

Library Staff Attend Self-Defense Class

In May, the library offered voluntary self-defense training at Gracie Barra, a Brazilian Jiu Jitsu and self-defense training studio in Washington. Twenty-six of the library's employees participated in the training, which lasted an hour. The training session was part of a special offer in which employees from any library could attend one free self-defense class at any Gracie Barra location in the metropolitan St. Louis area.

Pacific branch library assistant Ali Heisler (top) and New Haven interim branch manager Macee Jarvis (bottom) participate in self-defense training at Gracie Barra Washington.

Hermann's Childrens Programmer visited all of the Hermann schools and talked about the Summer Reading Program and all the exciting events planned for everyone.

Spring Book Sale the Library's Most Successful Ever

The library's book sales continue to grow each year. The spring book sale, which was held systemwide on May 9-11, brought in more revenue than any previous sale. The total proceeds were $13,413; the previous high, from the fall 2018 sale, was $10,637. Four branches — St. Clair, Sullivan, Pacific, and Hermann — had their most successful sales ever. Six of the library's nine branches—St. Clair, Sullivan, Pacific, Hermann, Warrenton, and Union—all exceeded $1,500 in sales.

The Friends of the Library groups are given the option to manage the sales and keep the money from their branch's sale. They set up the sale, schedule volunteers, and find someone to take the leftover books or take them to a recycling center. Only the Union and Wright City branch Friends groups did not manage their branch's book sales this spring. The proceeds from the other branch's sales were deposited into their Friends groups' individual bank accounts.

The library publicizes the sales in the local newspapers, on local radio stations, with banners placed around its communities, and with a boosted paid Facebook ad. The library's first sale with the current three-day format was in the fall of 2012 and only generated $4,573.

Staff Spotlight: Sarah Library Assistant, Owensville Branch

What is your favorite part of the job? I love seeing faces light up, young or old, when I help them with something. Whether it's finding a favorite book/author, solving a tech problem, or introducing them to something completely new, I never get tired of the "Wow, I didn't know I could do that!" moments.

What do you wish more people knew about the library? I wish more teenagers and young adults knew what an incredible resource for school and the workplace the library is. They still think it's a boring place with a bunch of old books. I tell people all the time this is not your grandma's library. The attitudes are starting to change, but I'm constantly trying to come up with ideas to get the word out.

What upcoming program at your branch are you most excited about and why?

As a lifelong lover of all things science fiction and fantasy, I am really excited about the summer reading program. We have all seen evidence in our lifetime that science fiction becomes science fact and I'm really looking forward to promoting my favorite genre.

What are you currently reading or what are you reading next? I'm currently re-reading 1984 by George Orwell for our book club. Next on my list is Oathbringer by Brandon Sanderson, which is book 3 of the Stormlight Archive.

What is your favorite book? I would have to say The Handmaid's Tale by Margaret Atwood. I was 19 when it was first published and it had a profound impact on my view of the world. It's even more exciting that after waiting for over 30 years, her sequel will be released in September. I never thought it would happen and I can't wait!

Is there anything else you would like people to know about you, your job, or your library branch? Like I said, total sci-fi/fantasy geek here and if anybody ever wants recommendations on books, tv shows, and movies, I'm your human. Live long and prosper!
