

her story like a Tobin was born
 t 13, she worked
 er family. Later,
 . She loved trav-
 bought a return
 which struck an earned a place
 Molly Brown.
 se Martin got a lience before he ably gave him a d to write about

1847, the third
 was caught up
 was shot by the
 . Four years af-
 rother Frank J.

the train's safe,
 rs," Chase said.
 ous outlaws."
 Mr. Orris' young
 g they were, but
 ere. I wrote sto-
 I think, not as

element to this
 n and I thought

e the last of 11
 ved special rec-
 ard during last
 e the youngest.
 utes and watch
 who had won
 g contests and s in state com-
 no had won a ket Game, and
 ho had taken
 ny Park.
 p on that huge
 ool auditorium,
 eats that were
 s, teachers and
 and read their

ar gliders, the
 d Jesse James,
 ng writers, will
 n't wait to read
 third-graders

eached at pau-05-9800.

Young Writers Recognized

Four Robertsville Elementary second- and third-graders were recognized at the May 15 school board meeting for their writing, illustrating and publishing skills. The students each wrote a story that was published in a hard cover book. Front row, from left, are Cam Harvey and Gunner Knott, second grade; and Chase Martin and Avery Thomas, third grade. Back row, from left, are Keith Orris, Robertsville Elementary principal, and Mary Clasby Agee, school board secretary.

Missourian Photo.

Library Adult Programs in May

Adult programs at the Scenic Regional Library in Pacific for the month of May include the regular mah-jong games and monthly book club, as well as demonstrations in gardening and acrylic frame decorating.

All adult programs are free, but registration is required. Patrons can register by calling the branch at 636-257-2712 or going online to the events calendar at scenicregional.org.

Space is limited so people should reserve a spot as soon as possible.

Mahjong is played every Monday at 10 a.m. New players are always welcome.

Debbie Brandt, master gardener, will teach and demonstrate container gardening techniques Thursday, May 23, at 6 p.m. Guests will learn how to turn their patio into a beautiful garden.

Guests can decorate an acrylic frame Thursday, May 30, at 6 p.m. People should bring a picture that can be cropped to 4-by-4 and embellish a frame to match it. There is a limit of 20 people for this program.

