Gov. Mel Carnahan has assured that the selection of a digital technology within the next five years. Digital switching processes calls much faster and allows single-party customers to subscribe to custom calling features such as Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Speed Calling and Touch Call. It also provides the choice of preferred long-distance company.

"These technology improvements will enable GTE's Missouri customers to participate in the telecommunications revolution of the future with the tools they need to navigate the information highway," said Howard Keister, GTE division manager for Missouri. "It's an aggressive rate structure, there are only six business and six residential rates. We believe this is more fair to all our Missouri customers," Keister concluded.

GTE Midwest Region, which includes operations in Arkansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma, is part of GTE Telephone Operations.

GTE Telephone Operations is the largest U.S.-based local telephone company, providing telecommunications service through more than 21 million access lines in portions of 33 states, British Columbia, Quebec, Venezuela, and the Dominican Republic.
