Community Read to Begin March 12

Scenic Regional Library is excited to announce its partnership with Washington Public Library and East Central College in launching an annual Community Read event, beginning this March. The goal of the Community Read is to build a bond within our communities and encourage discussion by having as many people as possible read the same book at the same time.

The book chosen to kick off our first annual Community Read is Frankenstein, by Mary Shelley. The classic novel was published in 1818 and tells the story of Victor Frankenstein, a young scientist who conducts an unorthodox experiment and creates life in the form of a sentient being. Unfortunately, the specimen is deemed a monster and rejected by Frankenstein and society.

Beginning March 12, patrons can walk into any Scenic Regional Library branch or the Washington Public library and pick up a free paperback copy of Frankenstein to keep. Each branch will receive 60 to 85 copies; the Washington Public Library will receive 125 copies. The books will be distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis while supplies last. E-book and e-audiobook copies will also be available for check-out through the library's digital services.

To involve all ages in the Community Read, two additional books have been chosen to allow children and teens to partake in the festivities. 15 copies of Mary Who Wrote Frankenstein, by Linda Bailey, and 18 copies of Gris Grimly's Frankenstein, a graphic novel, will be added to the library's collection available for check-out.

The Community Read will begin with a kick-off event Saturday, March 12, at each branch location. Beginning Saturday, March 21, and continuing through the following six weeks, the library and its partners will present 104 free programs and book discussions throughout the three-county area (Gasconade, Franklin, and Warren). The programming will culminate with "Meet Mary Shelley", a performance by living history storyteller, Susan Marie Frontzcak, at the John Edson Anglin Performing Arts Center at East Central College on Saturday, April 30.

351 copies of Frankenstein will be distributed to 10 area high schools that have chosen to participate in the Community Read by incorporating the novel into their curriculum. The participating schools are St. Francis Borgia Regional High School, Hermann

High School, Owensville High School, Pacific High School, St. Clair High School, Union High School, Warrenton High School, Washington Middle School, Washington High School, and Wright City High School. East Central College Library will also have 120 copies to distribute to their students.

In addition, the library is donating 90 copies of Mary Who Wrote Frankenstein, by Bailey and 120 Gris Grimly's Frankenstein to 20 area elementary and middle schools.

Library Offers Chilton Library

In the past, Chilton Auto Manuals were an excellent reference source for owners to understand their vehicle better – and they still are! However, now, instead of the heavy, bulky manual about one specific make and model of vehicle, you can have all the information you need regarding any automobile at your fingertips by using Chilton Library!

Chilton Library (available 24/7) provides everything you can find in a Chilton manual, including repair, maintenance, and service information for thousands of car, truck, van, and SUV makes and models. In addition, you can also find step-by-step repair procedures, troubleshooting guides, diagnostic trouble codes, photographs, illustrations, wiring diagrams, and videos and animations to simplify even the most complicated tasks.

To access Chilton Library, visit <https://scenicregional.org/databases/#diy>, click on “Chilton Library”, and log in with your library card number.

Library Offers Books-by-Mail

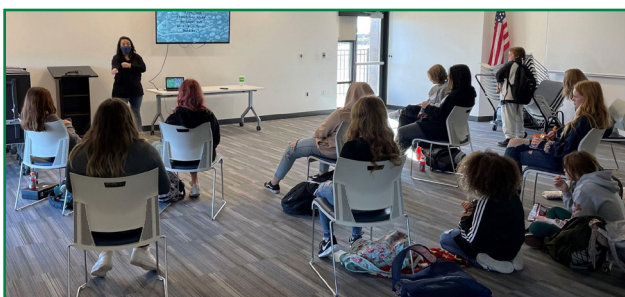

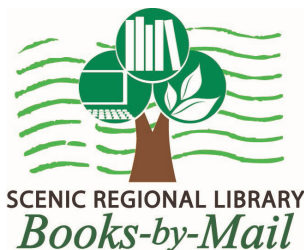

Do you or someone you know want to utilize library materials, but can't leave the house? Check out our Books-by-Mail program! Books-by-Mail is a free program offered by Scenic Regional Library that provides books to homebound individuals or those unable to visit the library in person. Qualifying individuals can sign up to receive five items at a time by mail. Requestable items include books, audiobooks on CD, music on CD, and DVDs.

To register for the service, print and fill out the Books-by-Mail Application Packet available on the library's website, or call Books-by-Mail at 636-583-0652, ext. 114, to request the forms by mail. Please leave an after-hours request on the voicemail.

Once registered, you may request materials by title, subject, author, or type of material. The Books-by-Mail Readers Advisor will select the requested materials, or suggest titles based on your expressed interest, such as mysteries, romance, westerns, etc., and then mail the items directly to your home.

For more information, visit scenicregional.org/request-materials/booksbymail. Qualifying residents must live within the library's three-county service area.

Sara Springer, RN/MSN and co-founder of Love Will Foundation, presented “Words Hurt and their Impact” to a group of teens at the Wright City branch Thursday, January 13, as part of a week-long “Bullying Prevention” series.

Staff Spotlight: Robin Branch Manager, Owensville Branch

What made you want to work in a library? As a retired educator, working in a building full of books seemed to be a natural transition.

Can you share a little about your career in education? I began college with the plan to be a music teacher, but pausing to marry and have children made that difficult to complete, so I switched to Elementary Education. My first year of teaching was at St. Patrick's Catholic School in Rolla. I loved the atmosphere but took a position in my home district the next year. I went back and forth between first and second grade for most of my career, although I did teach two years of reading in the eighth grade.

I retired in 2018. Education is a passion and I continue to be a lifelong learner, primarily because my family valued learning. I was born asking why and what things are for and how they worked, to the point of annoying my poor mother. Mom and Dad were only able to finish eighth grade, due to the Great Depression, but I watched them extend their education throughout their lives. I am forever thankful for the framework they laid for me.

How has that experience shaped your work at the library? Upon my retirement from education, the opening at the library seemed like as perfect of a fit as could be found in Owensville. The importance of learning, even when it comes through the enjoyment of reading a novel, was deeply rooted in my soul. My mother was an insatiable reader and used the library all her life and made it a point to take her children to this magical place. I knew how smart she was and realized it wasn't all from her formal education... That lady educated herself at the local library.

That was my launching pad into appreciating the library. Now I want to help people find that "just right" book that may inspire them to learn or explore topics that are dear to their heart, or simply to entertain. The library is a hub of resources. Hopefully these experiences have made me into a good librarian.

What upcoming program are you most excited about and why? Not a program per se, but I am very excited about the mobile kitchen and sewing lab. These two new components to the library are going to offer programs in areas that I feel are wanted.

Any hobbies or interests outside the library? Travel, gardening, canning and preserving food, playing the piano, singing, needlework, making comforters out of old denim, and making jewelry. My favorite would depend upon the time of year, for it changes with the seasons. Right now I'm tangled up in thread, or needlework. I'm getting the itch to plant some seeds and go somewhere! 45 states and 14 foreign countries under my belt!

What are you currently reading or what are you reading next? How about one I just finished? Cutting For Stone, by Abraham Verghese. Verghese is an Indian-American medical doctor who was raised in Ethiopia. Although he works at Stanford today, the book is set in an Ethiopian hospital, which had very primitive conditions. The book follows the lives of twins born into a series of misfortunes. The author said that it is not autobiographical, but he has to be pulling from many things he was exposed to in his lifetime. It is one of the best books I've read in years.

Chromebooks Still Available

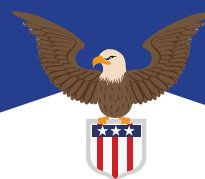

Do you need a computer at home with built-in internet? You're in luck! Scenic Regional Library has a limited number of Chromebooks still available for a six-month checkout period.

The devices, which have unlimited data, are also available to Washington Public Library patrons. To check out a device, you must be over the age of 18. Only one device is available per household. If interested in checking out a Chromebook, visit or contact your local branch for more details.

The devices were made available to the library through a $246,498 Federal Emergency Connectivity Fund Grant, awarded October 12. The grant also covers the devices' monthly Wi-Fi fees.

Hermann Branch Receives Donation

The Hermann Branch received a $500 donation on behalf of Concert Hall and Barrel Tavern. To recognize the generous donation, a "Diamond Level" lifetime membership certificate to the Hermann Branch Friends of the Library was presented to Christin Ruediger, a representative of Concert Hall and Barrel Tavern.

Progress on the Hermann construction project is well underway. Framing has started on the front of the building, and the inside of the building is beginning to take shape.

“Race” (DVD) Directed by Stephen Hopkins

I’ve always been fascinated with the Olympics, and some of my particular favorite events are the Track and Field ones. I knew a little about the famous American track star Jesse Owens and have seen some footage of his amazing athletic abilities, so when I discovered the DVD called “Race”, I was definitely interested. It didn’t let me down. “Race” takes the viewer through Jesse’s life, at first focusing on his college athletic career and how his interaction with his coach changed both of their lives. There are several dramatic plot twists that occur which throw into doubt Jesse’s ability to take place in the Olympics held in Berlin, Germany, in 1936. These games were known as the “Nazi Olympics”, and Jesse is very torn whether or not he should attend them.

The actor portraying Jesse does an excellent job showing the difficulties Jesse had to overcome both in his personal life and in his athletic career. One of my favorite parts of the movie dealt with an unexpected friendship that develops between Jesse and a star German athlete named Luz Long. Make sure to watch to the very end, where they show photos of the real record-setting Olympian himself!

“Nowhere Girl: a Memoir of a Fugitive Childhood” by Cheryl Diamond

This beautifully written memoir is one of the best I have ever read. Cheryl Diamond is an amazingly strong, yet flexible young lady who has held onto her core beliefs despite all the ups and downs of her life. Being born into a fugitive family has its freedoms and its constraints. She talks about always being careful not to get too close to people emotionally because she had to leave them in the end. Each time she had to leave people or possessions behind, she left a little bit of herself behind as well. When you are on the run, you never stay in one place for very long.

She quickly found out that not all families are bound by love but sometimes by necessity. Her struggles dealing with the extremely dysfunctional members of her family will leave you aching for her and cheering for her.

This breath-taking novel will make you laugh, cry and cheer for a very unique and brave young lady who has finally found her place in a very crazy and mixed-up world.

-Review by Lori Jane, Pacific

Bob Ross Paint Night was simply wonderful, full of masters and masterpieces. Special thanks to Lynn Lavelle, Certified Ross Instructor, for joining us at the Pacific branch.

The St. Clair branch hosted a Golden Girls game night, full of fun trivia, fun prizes, and cheesecake!

Thanks to all that donated items to the “Kindness is Cool” Union branch program. If you are in need, or know someone who is, we have the hats, scarves, and gloves out.
