

Bugged

Thursday morning is Preschool Story Time at the St. Clair branch of the Scenic Regional Library as at 10 a.m. youngsters gather to hear stories and participate in songs, games and crafts. Library branch manager Karen Fogelbach organized the event. Currently, she is reading a series of 10 Missouri Building Block books to those youths who attend — two each week for five weeks. After the series is read, the children will pick their favorite and the vote will be submitted to the state, which will select a “Book of the Year.” Above, Fogelbach reads “Can You Make a Scary Face” to the group, which included Brent Light, 2, left, Cody Sanders, 2, middle, and Boone Sanders, 5. After the books were read, the children made ladybugs as part of a craft activity. Bottom left, Jacob Haley, 3, plays with a ladybug as he works on his own under Fogelbach’s supervision while playmate Cody Sanders works on his with the help of his mom, Amanda. Bottom right, Sage Duty, 3, showed off her ladybug by placing it on her head.