

Mem Brid Nea

By Joe Barker
Union Missourian E

The Memoria
and rivers shou December.

City Enginee bridge is expect in the contract.
said. All that's l

Crews were asphalting the mermann said c ty measures ar step.

The bridge w
fore it can offic

Whenever th

• See Bridge Pag

Story Time at the Library

A crowd filled a meeting room at the Scenic Regional Library's Union branch Wednesday, Nov. 27, for preschool story time. Youth Programmer Johnnalee Jump read several stories to the children. The group also sang songs and danced during the event. Story time is held every Wednesday and Saturday at 10 a.m.

Missourian Photo/Joe Barker.

Board Backs Extension for De

By Joe Barker
Union Missourian Editor

The Union Planning and Zoning Commission supported a proposal to allow Schicker Ford to keep its mobile sales trailer for another three years.

The extension would be the longest granted for the dealership.

City Engineer Jonathan Zimmermann said Schicker Ford came to the city in 2014 seeking a permit for a temporary sales structure on their lot at the intersection of south Highway 47 and Highway 50. The request was granted and a mobile trailer was placed along Highway 50.

Zimmermann said the original plan called for the mobile unit to be allowed for one year with the maximum of a one-year extension.

After the two years, he said Schicker Ford sought a two-year extension. The city agreed to that extension, but that is due to expire soon.

The dealership asked the planning and zoning commission at its November meeting for another, longer extension.

Schicker Ford representative Dan Helmsing told the plan board the dealership wants to keep mobile sales office because it can't move forward with any construction project.

Helmsing said the dealership's owner, Bill Schicker, died in January. His family is trying to settle the estate, but has told it could take between 36 and 48 months.

During that time, Helmsing said no one

Plan Board Approved Plat

By Joe Barker
Union Missourian Editor

The Union Planning and Zoning Commission has again approved a preliminary plat for Main Street Heights.

For the second time, the plan board was asked to review and approve a plan for a proposed develop-

